The Challenge

SQLI is growing fast, both organically and through acquisition. The organization needed to unify processes across multiple, separate, operational entities. Finance teams spent excessive time and resources on transaction processing and manual finance consolidation, rather than being a partner to the business.

How did Unit4 help?

- SQLI chose Unit4 based on its depth of functionality, proven capability, and pre/post-sales support. SQLI also believes that Unit4 “is the most intuitive of any ERP platform on the market today.”
- Deployed complete, connected Unit4 Financial Management platform to unify finance strategy across multiple business entities, countries, and people

- Goal is for 100% of people and all acquisitions to be live on Unit4 ERP within the year
- Adopted cloud platform to accelerate implementation, increase agility, and ensure people can connect from anywhere and any device

Achievements

Empowers finance teams

Intelligent automation enables finance function to move away from transaction processing, providing insights, advice, and leadership – e.g., determining investment priorities.

Drives business growth

Single, unified view of finance data across acquisitions enables agile decision-making, enhanced customer service, and, ultimately, revenue growth.

Accelerates deployment

Unit4 cloud model ensures new entities, countries, and people can be onboarded quickly and efficiently, with less risk and at lower cost.

“I think Unit4 should change its name to ‘Unique4.’ Their ERP software solution is really performant in terms of ease of use, flexibility, and innovation for strong growing companies like SQLI.”
